MORE GOLD WANTED

French Banks May Unload Sum of $25,000,000.

NEGOTIATIONS UNDER WAY

Morgan Firm Is Now Busy Trying to Get Bank of France to Materially Come to the Financial Rescue of This Country.

New York, Nov. 15.—Hope of adding possibly $25,000,00 gold to the $60,000,000 or more we have already obtained from abroad, is held out by negotiations underway between New York banking interests, through their Paris representatives, and the Bank of France. The Bank of France so far has refused to permit gold to be taken from its vaults for export to New York.

The negotiations with the Bank of France looking to the release of this large amount of gold by that institution were not concluded at the close of business Wednesday, according to one of the bankers interested in the negotiations. The plan upon which it has been proposed to obtain this gold from the Bank of France, it is understood, provides for the sale of gold by the Bank of France at a premium of one-half of one per cent against commercial bills drawn from Paris and representing exports of merchandise from this country to France.

In cable advices received in the financial district from Paris, it was said that Morgan, Harjesa & Co., the Morgan house in Paris, were the bankers through whom the negotiations with the Bank of France were being carried on. That the Morgan firm had interested itself in the efforts to obtain gold from Paris was generally credited, though no official acknowledgment of the fact could be obtained.

PAWNSHOPS BUSY.

Financial Stringency Causes Many to Seek Funds by Pledging Valuables.

New York, Nov. 15.—An odd phase of the present financial stringency is the lively business being done by the pawnbrokers.

A number of persons who are seeking funds by pledging jewelry and all sorts of personal property has greatly increased. But the pawnshop proprietors have had to reduce their loans, and in some instances, a limit has been placed by them on the amount to be given any one person, no matter what the pledge.

"If we cannot get the money from our bankers, we can't push it across to our customers," is the attitude of the pawnbrokers, voiced by one of them. Along the Bowery and Park Row the limit in most shops has been set at $25 to $30, but a few of the larger shops are paying out $50.

The character and number of the people who are trying in this way to raise money are declared by a Forty-second street pawnbroker to be astonishing.

A man came to his shop, he said, to pledge a large number of government bonds, and another brought his family jewelry worth $20,000. Neither man could be accommodated.

Child Burns To Death.

Charleston, S. C., Nov. 15.—Helen Shaw, an adopted six-year-old child of Miss Claudia Tharin, superintendent of the Florence Crittenden home, was burned to death in the overturning of a lamp while the child was being put to bed. The little girl was so completely enveloped in flames and badly burnt that notwithstanding the prompt response and efforts of the attending physicians, she was so seriously injured that she died from the results of the burns.

Steam Versus Electricity.

Clayton, N. J., Nov. 15.—One of the big Pennsylvania railway locomotives Wednesday developed a speed of 80.4 miles an hour over a seven-mile stretch of track, defeating one of the 95-ton electric engines which has been giving speed trials on the specially built track near this place, by twenty miles in the hour.

KILLED BY A NEGRO.

Black Resents a Reprimand by His Employer.

Cordele, Ga., Nov. 15.—A. H. Raines, of Raines, was killed Tuesday evening, about dark, at his residence, by a negro farm hand.

It seems Mr. Raines had occasion to correct the negro for the way he was feeding the stock. The negro began using profane and abusive language to Mr. Raines.

The two men were standing very near together, the negro all the time with his hand in his pocket, when he suddenly pulled out a knife and made a dive for Mr. Raines' treat, cutting it almost all the way across. In a few minutes Mr. Raines died.

A crowd of men chased the negro as far as Coney, but owing to the heavy rain lost track of him.

The search for the negro is still in progress.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—Captain Ronald Amundsen, the Norwegian arctic explorer and discoverer of the northwest passage, received formal notification Wednesday night that the Helen Culver gold medal for notable achievements in science and discovery had been awarded him. The announcement was made at a meeting of the Geographic Society of Chicago. The medal is the first award made by the society. Professor Henry J. Cox, chief of the local weather bureau, made the notification speech.

Transit of Mercury.

New York, Nov. 15.—Astronomers throughout the country trained their telescopes and cameras on the planet Mercury Thursday morning to observe its journey across the face of the sun. The transit of the planet occupied three and a half hours. Mercury's journey was not observable with the naked eye, but was seen with the aid of an ordinary field glass. The last transit of Mercury was in November, 1094.

Rope Mills Burned.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Nov. 15.—The Searcy Rope and Yarn mills, located at Samantha, ten miles north of this city, were completely destroyed by fire Tuesday night. The cause of the fire is not known. The property was valued at $20,000, and was insured for

ALABAMA LIKELY DRY

State Prohibition Bill Passes the Lower House.

IS NOW UP TO THE SENATE

Lower House of Legislature of Alabama Passes Prohibition Bill and Without a Doubt the Senate Will Concur.

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 15.—After one of the most impassioned speeches ever heard in the Alabama legislature, the house on Wednesday afternoon passed the Carmichael prohibition bill by a vote of 66 to 25, the full number required by the constitution.

The closing plea was made by Speaker Carmichael, author of the measure, who urged that the state throw off the shackles of drink.

The final speaking in the afternoon attracted an immense crowd to the capitol and the enthusiasm was so great that no attempt was made to restrain the galleries. The applause was at times so vociferous that the noise was heard all over the building. Most of those present were ladies.

A feature of the discussion was the assertion by Mr. Carmichael that there is grave doubts of the constitutionality of the local option measure.

Mr. Goodwyn, of Montgomery, was the leading speaker for the liquor side, but he was impotent to stem the tide that rolled over the elimination of the alcoholmc traffic in toto.

The bill becomes effective the first day of October 1908, and provides for absolute state prohibition.

It also provides against the sale in clubs or by association of men, and a companion bill establishes an officer whose duty it shall be made to enforce the laws.

The bill now goes to the senate, where it is said the liquor interests will make their main fight.

When the aye and nay vote came, dozens of members explained their attitude, several declaring their personal opposition to prohibition, but saying their constituents wanted it.

The bill prohibits the sale or giving away intoxicating liquors.

The only amendment secured by the antis allows a person to give away a drink "in a purely social way."

DYING MAN'S REQUEST.

Wanted Wife to Look at His Heart After Autopsy.

Birmingham, Ala, Nov. 15.—Carrying out the dying request of her husband, Mrs. Geo. J. Feindell gazed upon nthe heart of her dead husband after it had been taken from the body.

The heart taken from the body of George Feindella, who had died Monday at Biloxi, Miss., had grown to an abnormal size, weighing 7 pounds, after being taken from the body.

In the opinion of prominent physicians in the city the heart was one of the largest ever known. The average weight of the human heart is 1½ pounds. The apparently strange request of the dead man was made as he believed he would die of heart trouble and thought there was something wrong with that organ. Before dying, he asked his wife to have an autopsy held over his body and for her to look at the heart. Mrs. Feindella and her husband lived at West End, near Birmingham.

Government Ownership.

Washington, D. C., Nov 15.—Government ownership of telephones and telegraphs was considered at Wednesday's session of the thirty-first annual convention of the Knights of Labor. Resolutions for this purpose were referred to a committee for report and recommendation. The committee on general master workman's annual report recommended congressional legislation for a federal court of arbitration of labor and capital disputes.

Royal Birth at Rome.

Rome, Nov. 15.—Queen Heelna on Wednesday morning gave birth to a daughter. Both child and mother are doing well.

U. D. C. CONVENTION.

Daughters Convene With Attendance of Several Hundred Delegates.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 15.—The fourteenth annual convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy began here for a session of four days, with an attendance of several hundred delegates, including representatives from every state that formed the confederacy, and many from other states, north, east and west.

The convention was called to order in the auditorium on the Jamestown grounds by the president-general, Mrs. Lizzie George Anderson, of Gulfport, Miss., who made the response in the name of the convention, to addresses of welcome by President Tucker, in behalf of the management of the Jamestown exposition; Rear Admiral Harrington, U. S. N.; Mrs. James Leigh, of Norfolk, president of the hostess chapter, and Mrs. William R. McKenney, of Petersburg, president of the Virginia division, United Daughters of the Confederacy. Reports of the officers were then taken up.

The afternoon feature was a reception at Beauvoir, a replica of the Mississippi home of Jefferson Davis, erected on the exposition grounds by the Daughters of the Confederacy. Among the most important matters to be considered at the present session is a revision of the constitution and by-laws, with a change in the time of holding the annual meeting from November to October.

BEGGED TO BE LOCKED UP.

"I Have Ruined the Bank," Cried the Cashier to the Judge.

Foster, Ky., Nov. 15.—Daniel C. McMath, cashier of the Foster Deposit bank, is in jail at Brookville, a self-confessed defaulter for $16,6600.

Trembling like an aspen leaf and apparently on the verge of a complete collapse, McMath staggered into the chamber of County Judge Bradford, at Brookville, and pleaded that he be placed under arrest.

"For what reason?" asked Judge Bradford.

"I have ruined the bank, and I'll go mad and kill myself if I am not locked up," replied the wretched man. Then he sank into a chair.

The judge called the sheriff and a few minutes later the bank cashier, who admits that he stole $16,600 from the Foster State bank, was sobbing pitifully in a cell in the county jail.

McMath waived examination Wednesday morning and was held to the grand jury. He could not furnish bail.

The time and place for the meeting of the committee to settle definitely the national convention question will be decided upon. The cities that are applicants for the convention are Chicago, Louisville, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Milwaukee and Atlantic City.

England's Premier Ill.

Bristol, England, Nov. 15—The premier, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, after addressing a political meeting, was seized with sudden illness Wednesday night at the residence here of William Howell Davis, liberal member of parliament for South Bristol. Doctors attended the sufferer for over an hour and although the sharpness of the attack has ceased, the premier's condition is such that London doctors have been summoned. Heart trouble is believed to be the cause of the illness.

Forty Horses Burned.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 15.—Forty horses were burned and a loss of $190,000 sustained by the destruction of the Redman Van and Storage company's barn and warehouse by fire Wednesday night. The warehouse was filled with valuable goods. Nothing was saved. Three firemen were injured during the progress of the fire.

PARLIAMENT OPENED

Russian Deputies Assemble at the Tauride Palace.

CZAR VIGOROUSLY CHEERED

Only Discordant Note Was Struck by the Socialists, Who Remained in Committee Room During Reading of Emperor's Greeting.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 15.—The Russian parliament was opened at the Tauride palace at 11 o'clock today morning, in the presence of Premier Stolypin and the council, by M. Golubeff, vice president of the council of the empire. The religious service preceding the opening was conducted by the Metropolitan Antonius and a number of bishops and other ecclesiastics, and was made the occasion for a display of patriotic enthusiasm on the part of the conservative and moderate members. The emperor was vigorously cheered. The city is perfectly quiet. A few hundred students gathered in the vicinity of the palace but they did not attempt to make a demonstration.

Patrols Preserve Order.

A score of mounted patrols on the quays and in the principal thoroughfares were more than sufficient to preserve order.

The only discordant note was struck by the socialists, who remained in the committee room during the reading of the emperor's greeting and entered the main hall only when it was necessary to sign the oath. The constitutional democrats showed no marked enthusiasm in singing the initial hymn or in the cheering, but otherwise participated decorously in the proceedings.

Promptly at 11 o'clock the Metropolitan Antonius Poe of the Russian church, attended by an imposing suite of ecclesiastics, gowned in cloth of gold, among them being the archbishop of St. Petersburg, and eight mitered bishops, filed into Catherine hall and the metropolitan and the choir began a deep toned chant of praise. The metropolitan afterwards intoned the litany and prayers for parliament, in which the great mass of deputies reverently joined.

At the close of the prayer in response to a general call, the national hymn was repeatedly sung amid long and loud cheering.

While the deputies were entering the hall Premier Stolypin approached the metropolitan and received the blessing and the pontifical kiss on the cheeks.

Ceremony Was Simple.

The ceremony of opening parliament was simple. M. Golubeff, accompanied by the secretry of the empire, Baron Von Uexullde Guyldenband, mounted the tribune, invited the members to rise, and read the imperial ukase convoking the parliament and the greeting from the emperor.

At the first mention of the emperor's name P. A. Krupensky, marshal of the nobility, and a member of the house, interrupted M. Golubeff with a cry for cheers for the emperor, which were given with a will and were repeated at the end of M. Golubeff's speech. The latter then read the oath of allegiance, distinctly emphasizing the words "emperor" and "autocrat." A recess of an hour was taken while the deputies signed the oath.

M. Khonyakoff, Octobrist, was elected president of the house, receiving 371 votes on the first ballot.

First Annual Meeting.

New York, Nov. 15—C. [illegible] Crary and Robert Fulton Crary, grandsons of Robert Fulton, builder of the steamer Clermont, will attend the first annual meeting of the Robert Fulton Monument association which is to be held at the Waldorf, to observe the 142nd anniversary of Fulton's birth. Governor Hughes, who signed the bill giving the association six blocks of land under the Harlem river on which to build a water gate as a memorial to Fulton, has written a letter to the association wishing them success in their work.

GOOD PLAY-HOUSE MAY BE ERECTED

Louis Kalbfield of Palatka Wants to Establish Circuit.

IS AN OLD THEATRICAL MAN

Was for Years Owner and Manager of a Minstrel Organization, But Becoming Impressed With Florida Located Here.

At last the chances are somewhat favorable to a new and up-to-date opera house and public hall for Gainesville; at least, they are more favorable than they have ever been before, which is due to the earnest and persistent efforts of Louis Kalbfield of Palatka, aided by an encouraging letter from Col. C. R. Layton of this city, who intimates that he is willing to co-operate with Mr. Kalbfield in the matter of securing a respectable theater, and placing Gainesville on the circuit with Palatka, Sanford, Orlando, Ocala and other cities.

Mr. Kalbfield, who is an old and prominent member of the theatrical profession, was once owner and manager of the famous Kalbfield Minstrels, in their day among the best on the road. Manager Kalbfield finally drifted with his company as far South as Florida, and Gainesville was one of his points. At that time, which was about five years ago, he became impressed with this city, and readily saw that a good opera house here would prove a paying investment, as he could see in the future a bright prospect for the city, and his forecast has been realized.

Mr. Kalbfield became so impressed with Florida, its congenial climate and hospitality, and when the theatrical season closed that year he gave up his profession, which had been paying him handsomely, and settled in Palatka, where he has since resided, being now "the busiest man in town" in reality, as his friends dubbed him. He is the manager of the New Arlington and Graham Hotels, and through his persistent efforts has had erected in Palatka one of the prettiest and most modern little play-houses in all the South.

As has been stated in these columns before, Manager Kalbfield is desirous of establishing a circuit of a few of the leading cities of the State, and has been in correspondence with friends here in the premises. He pays Gainesville a high compliment by declaring that it is among the most up-to-date inland cities of the South, and he feels sure that the venture would pay the man with the money a handsome interest on his investment to erect an opera house here, as a good play-house would attract many of the large and important shows of the country to Gainesville. "There is no use talking," he remarked to a Gainesville man in Palatka a few days ago, "Gainesville is a good, healthy town; a town full of good people, and they are people who as a rule love refined entertainment, and if they only had a comfortable, modern opera house, which would attract first-class plays, they would pack the house every time."

Manager Layton, of the Edwards Opera House, has written Mr. Kalbfield as follows, which is evidence that Col. Layton himself believes the investment would be a good one:

"Mr. Louis Kalbfield, Palatka: Dear Sir—I understand that you would like to form a circuit and include Gainesville in same, if the new theater can be secured here. I may be able to induce some parties here to put up a good house if I can assure them of a sufficient rental to justify the outlay, and will be glad to hear from you as to what seating capacity there ought to be, and what would be the prospective returns. Would you be willing to rent a theater here, or go in with somebody and rent one, and what rent would you pay?

"Yours truly, C. R. LAYTON.
"Manager Opera House."

Mr. Kalbfield writes to the effect that he will visit Gainesville within the next few days, when a thorough investigation will be made.

MRS. J. L. MEDLIN'S RECEPTION

In Honor of Her Guests—Afternoon and Evening.

One of the most enjoyable social functions of the season was the reception tendered by Mrs. James L. Medlin to her charming guests, Misses Calhoun, Moore and McCormick, at her elegant home, 206 East Main street, Thursday afternoon and evening, the afternoon devoted to the married ladies, and the evening to the young people.

Both functions were largely attended. The afternoon reception began at 4 o'clock, lasting until 6.

At the front door were the little Misses Omera McCook and Otelia Medlin, daughter of the hostess, who introduced the guests at the head of the receiving line, composed of Mrs. Medlin, Miss Calhoun, Miss Moore, Miss McCormick, Miss Annie Scarratt, Mrs. Herbert Arnold and Mrs. Prince, in the order named.

Passing the receiving line, the guests were ushered into the dining-room by Mrs. James M. Dell, Jr., where Mesdames W. B. Taylor and J. D. Stringfellow presided at the coffee and chocolate urns, respectively. Delicious cream and cake were also served here, being passed by Misses Nancy and Nell Prince, Irene McCreary, Eloise Vidal and Blanche Edgerton.

From the dining-room the guests were ushered into the punch-room by Mesdames E. M. Walton and Sam T. Dell. The punch bowl was most gracefully presided over by Misses Bettie Miller and Lucille Colclough, with bewitching, pleasant smiles for all who came to be refreshed.

The decorations were very handsome—not elaborately vulgar, but very tastefully arranged, and the effect, pink and white, was carried out beautifully and in contrast. In the dining-room was a handsome polished table, the center-piece of which was a handsome piece of Cluny lace, with a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums in a cut glass vase, surrounded by smilax, with pink candle effect on sideboard and mantles.

The house was also beautifully decorated with pot plants and cut flowers throughout, making a handsome effect.

In the evening Mrs. Medlin entertained the young people at cards, progressive whist being the game. There was a large crowd present, eight tables being filled. After a most exciting contest, the gentleman's prize, a handsome pocketbook, was awarded to J. H. Tench, while the lady's prize, a vase of Hindoo design, imported, was won by Miss Bessie King.

During the evening delicious refreshments of coffee, chocolate, cream, cake and punch were served.

In all these functions were most enjoyable, and enabled many of our people the opportunity to meet the charming guests of Mrs. Medlin, which they felt quite an honor.

MILLS OF JUSTICE ARE STILL GRINDING

Many Cases Disposed of in Friday's Session of Circuit Court.

JUDGE COMPLIMENTS COUNTY

He Feels Gratified That a County So Large in Area as Alachua Should Pass Through Term Without Single Indictment for Murder.

The circuit court convened at 9 o'clock Friday morning, Judge Wills presiding.

The following cases were disposed of:

State vs. Irene Ross, selling liquor in a county which had voted against the sale of same. Case continued on account of illness of the defendant.

State vs. S. J. Slaughter, disposing of mortgaged property. Case nolle prossed.

State vs. D. W. and Mattie Jones, selling liquor in a county voting against the sale of same. Defendants arraigned and plead guilty.

State vs. John Bullock, selling liquor in a county voting against the sale of same. Defendant arraigned and pleaded not guilty. Jury called and sworn, evidence submitted, and verdict returned of guilty.

State vs. Andy Gordon, assault with intent to murder. Defendant arraigned and pleaded not guilty. Jury called and sworn, evidence submitted, and verdict rendered of aggravated assault.

State vs. Tom Williams, alias Tom Buck, assault with intent to murder. Defendant arraigned and pleaded not guilty. Jury called, evidence submitted, and jury returned a verdict of guilty of intent to commit manslaughter.

State vs. E. D. Atkinson, obstructing an officer in the discharge of his duty. Case nolle prossed.

State vs. Frank Hadley, grand larceny. Defendant arraigned and pleaded guilty.

State vs. Charlie Ganzey, selling liquor in a county which had voted against the sale of same. Defendant arraigned and pleaded guilty.

During the session the grand jury filed into open court and reported that its labors had been completed for the term, and after this report the court extended its thanks for the efficiency of the jury, collectively and individually, after which the jury was discharged.

It is said that sixty-nine indictments were found by this grand jury, more than half of which were informations for selling whiskey.

Compliments the County.

In speaking of the report of the grand jury Friday night, Judge Wills called attention to the fact that, of all the indictments, not one was returned for murder, which was a remarkable incident, considering the great area of the county, and the nature of the interests in the outlying districts, being of a mining nature, where people of all classes as a rule are employed. "This shows," remarked Judge Wills, "that you have not only a remarkably law-abiding class of citizens in the management of these industries, but a remarkably law-abiding class of laborers, and I congratulate sincerely the situation in this county in the matter of capital crimes."

The court will convene at 8:30 o'clock this morning, and will probably adjourn at noon for the week.

Train Was Delayed.

Owing to a derailed tender, the train from Cedar Key to Jacksonville, due here at 7:40 a. m., did not arrive until 9 o'clock Friday morning.

It is so seldom that an accident occurs on this train that it seems a little out of the ordinary. It is one of the most regular in the State the year around, as far as the schedule is concerned, never varying more than a few minutes the year round.

Golden Stream Still Flows.

New York, Nov. 15.—More than six millions of dollars in gold has been received abroad for import to the United States since the present movement began. Announcements Wednesday of engagements of $800,000 by the First National Bank of Chicago, $500,000 by the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank and $1,000,000 by banks in New Orleans, brought the grand total up to $6,220,000. Gold to the amount of $4,000,000 arrived here Wednesday on the steamer Oceanic from Liverpool.

The Modesty of Women

Naturally makes them shrink from the indelicate questions, the obnoxious examinations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the annoyance and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure which dispenses with the examinations and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures. It is strictly non-alcoholic, non-secret, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper; contains no deleterious or habit-forming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice. Some of these numerous and strongest of professional endorsements of its ingredients, will be found in a pamphlet wrapped around the bottle, also in a booklet mailed free on request, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. These professional endorsements should have far more weight than any amount of the ordinary lay, or non-professional testimonials.

The most intelligent women now-a-days insist on knowing what they take as medicine instead of opening their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulping down whatever is offered them. "Favorite Prescription" is of KNOWN COMPOSITION. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound.

TAKEN FROM LIVING TOMB.

Man, Given Up for Dead, Is at Last Rescued.

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 15.—Imprisoned for eighty-seven hours several hundred feet beneath the surface of of the earth, almost directly under his own home, where his wife and children mourned for him as dead, Michael McCabe, of Gilberton, was Wednesday taken from his tomb in the Draper mine barely alive, after one of the most marvelous rescues in the history of anthracite mining.

Since Saturday afternoon, when the top of the chamber in which he was working caved in and caused a rush of culm and water from the surface, relays of workmen toiled unceasingly to rescue him. When rescued McCabe was so weak for want of water and food that he could scarcely speak.

Shortly after midnight the rescuers detected a scratching noise which told them that McCabe was still living, and with renewed vigor fresh reliefs were put to work, and about 5 o'clock Wednesday he was rescued.

He had not changed his position from the time the rush occurred, as he feared that by moving about another rush of culm might start which would end his life.

When rescued, he said he thought he had been imprisoned for at least a week and was so weak for want of water and food that he could hardly speak. He was taken to his home, where the house of mourning was changed to one of rejoicing.

Be Charitable

To your horses as well as to yourself. You need not suffer from pains of any sort—your horses need not suffer. Try a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment. It cures all pains. J. M. John Jay Treaty Banquet.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 15.—James J. Hill will be the principal speaker at the annual John Jay Treaty banquet to be given by the Commercial club in this city on the evening of Nov. 19. Mayor Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, who was invited to speak at the banquet, declined because of a conflicting engagement. Among the other speakers will be three members of the interstate commerce commission, two prominent railroad men and an officer of the United States Army.

"Generally debilitated for years. Had sick headaches, lacked ambition, was worn-out and all run-down. Burdock Blood Bitters made me a well woman."—Mrs. Chas. Freitoy, Moosup, Conn.

TRIAL OF MRS. BRADLEY.

Jury Will Soon Be Obtained to Try Fate of Woman.

Washington, Nov. 15.—When the trial of Mrs. Bradley, on the charge of murdering ex-United States Senator Brown, was resumed Thursday, there were eleven men in the jury box.

As the attorneys on both sides seemed well satisfied with most of the jurymen the opinion was quite general that the proceedings would soon result in the completion of the jury which will determine the fate of the woman whose life is at stake. She appeared more composed than at the beginning of Wednesday's session of court.

Beggars In Italy.

As the natural beauties of Italy increase toward the south so do the beggars in numbers and persistence. The lame, the halt and the blind confront one everywhere in Naples. Mothers exhibit the ailings of pitiable children, and strong, well children follow the foreigner about, begging for soldi. They stick like leeches to the traveler unaccustomed to the country's ways, sometimes even laying hands on him to call attention to their needs. This nuisance is in no small degree due to the careless generosity of tourists who scatter coppers to be struggled for by ragamuffins in the streets or whose hearts are touched by pitiable spectacles. It is, however, better to make a firm rule not to give. In the first place your money when given to manifestly needy beggars is often extorted from them by ablebodied loafers. Besides, if you give one you'll soon find a crowd after you. If you must give, give little. A soldo (equivalent of our cent) is sufficient. Knowledge of methods of dismissing importuning beggars, touts and venders will be found useful on reaching Naples and other cities of the south. The word "niente" (nothing), spoken firmly, is the first to use. If this does not suffice try what Baedeker describes as "a slight backward motion of the head, accompanied by a somewhat contemptuous expression." "Va via!" (Italian for "Get out!") may also be found useful.—Travel Magazine.

Bohemia's Rocky Maze.

The Rocky maze of Prachov, near Jacin in northern Bohemia, is a veritable natural curiosity. It has been well described as a gigantic "freak in stone." To enter the labyrinth without a guide is a perilous proceeding, for an unwary adventurer would probably speedily be lost in the tortuous windings of the maze, where the paths are so narrow and crooked and the cliffs on the side so high that the explorer soon loses all idea of locality. In days of fiery persecution the Moravian and Bohemian brethren's secret prayer meetings used to be held here, just as the early Christians assembled to worship in the catacombs. The cliffs are honeycombed with cells, and at the far end of the maze is a rock castle, where in the old days a robber baron lived and took toll of all wayfarers. The shape of some of the rocks is very curious. There are for instance the "bishop and miter," the "Madonna and the child" and many others.—London Scraps.

Always Was Sick.

When a man says he always was sick—troubled with a cough that lasted all winter—what would you think if he should say he never was sick since using Ballard's Horehound Syrup? Such a man exists. Mr. J. C. Clark, Denver, Colorado, writes: "For years I was troubled with a severe cough that would last all winter. This cough left me in a miserable condition. I tried Ballard's Horehound Syrup and have not had a sick day since. That's what it did for me." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Medicine of the Soul.

Medicine and religion, which are too frequently regarded as mutually antagonistic, should be mutually complementary. There are many diseases in which the medicine of the soul is a powerful adjuvant in the treatment of the body.—British Medical Journal.

WOMAN'S CLUBS TO MEET IN GAINESVILLE

State Federation Will Hold Forth Here for Three Days.

A FINE PROGRAM ARRANGED

The Federation Comprises Woman's Clubs from Every Section of the State, Representing the Best Element of Society—Meeting Monday.

The people of Gainesville, especially the ladies of the Twentieth Century Club, are anticipating with a great deal of interest the coming annual session of the Florida Federation of Woman's Clubs, which will be held in this city for three days, beginning November 19th, and continuing until the 21st inst. Elaborate preparations are being made for the entertainment of the delegates, who will come from every section of the State, representing the best and most refined society of Florida.

Mrs. Chas. H. Raynor of Daytona is president of the Federation, and she called a meeting of the Federation board in Jacksonville on the 2d inst. for the purpose of completing the details of the program for this convention, which will be one of the most elaborate, most instructive and most interesting in the history of the organization.

Many speakers of public prominence will be present and address the convention, among whom will be the well-known club woman and editor of The Keystone, Miss Louisa B. Poppenheimer, of Charleston, S. C.; A. J. McKelway, assistant secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, and others equally as prominent. It was expected to have Dr. Andrew Sledd, president of the University of Florida, deliver an address, but owing to the fact that he was called away to attend the Convention of State Presidents of Educational Institutions in Washington, it is feared he will be unable to be present, as his services will be required at the convention for ten days, more or less.

The convention will be held in the lodge-room of the Elks' Home. On Tuesday evening, the opening of the convention, there will be an interesting address given by the president, Mrs. Raynor.

The social feature of the convention will be a reception on Wednesday evening, the 20th, which will be tendered by the hostess club, the Twentieth Century Club of this city, to which many invitations have been extended. This will be followed on Wednesday evening by a musicale, after which there will be an address by Miss Poppenheimer.

The business sessions will be held on November 20 and 21, during which full reports of work accomplished by the chairmen of the various departments of individual clubs, interspersed with discussions on civics, juvenile court, traveling library, forestry work, etc.

In all, it is expected that this convention will go down in history as one of the most enjoyable and successful ever held in the history of the Federation of Woman's Clubs in Florida.

CONTRACT AWARDED.

Foreign Rails To Be Used in Extending Harriman Lines.

New York, Nov. 15.—It is stated in shipping circles here that two British freighters have been chartered in the London market for the purpose of transporting Russian steel rails for use in the construction of extensions of one of the Harriman lines into Mexico. The contract for the rails was awarded to the Society Metallurgique Russo, which operates steel works on the Black Sea.

The United States Steel Products and Export company of this city, which concern takes care of the foreign business of the United States Steel corporation, submitted a bid for the Harriman contract but the Russian quotation is understood to have been more favorable. The exact figures at which the contract was let is, however, a secret. The original contract calls for 6,000 tons.

Dancing Proves Fatal.

Many men and women catch colds at dances which terminate in pneumonia and consumption. After exposure, if Foley's Honey and Tar is taken it will break up a cold and no serious results need be feared. Refuse any but the genuine in a yellow package. J. W. McCollum & Co.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

$50,000,000 FOR WATERWAYS.

Congressman Ransdell Urges Harmony of All Sections of Nation.

Lake Providence, La., Nov. 15.—An address, urging harmony of all sections of the United States to the end of securing $50,000,000 annually from congress for river and harbor improvements, was issued Wednesday by Congressman J. E. Ransdell, president of the national rivers and harbors congress. Mr. Ransdell said:

"All projects in the union now under contemplation involve a cost of less than $500,000,000. At the rate of $50,000,000 a year, all of them could be provided for in ten years. It is unquestionable whether more than $50,000,000 a year can be expended wisely, and that should be divided among a number of projects. I understand that a feeling of discord has been generated among waterway people. We who have good projects can safely rely upon their merits, if a broad, liberal waterway policy is adopted."

Six Men Killed at Crossing.

South Milwaukee, Nov. 15.—Six men were killed at South Milwaukee Wednesday night when a fast Northwestern train ploughed across a grade crossing near the station. All of the victims were so mutilated that identification so far has been impossible. The bodies of those killed were thrown with such force they injured half a dozen others standing near, who were taken to hospitals with broken ribs and limbs. All of the killed were workmen at a nearby factory.

Switchman Killed.

Decatur, Ala., Nov. 15.—Luther Warrick, a Louisville and Nashville railroad switchman, while switching cars in the yards here Tuesday morning was fatally injured. He was taken to his home, where he died at 8 o'clock. He was standing on top of a freight car when the switch engine gave a sudden lurch, throwing him off the car, and under the wheels. His head was badly crushed and he was otherwise injured about the person.

The New Pure Food and Drug Law.

The Sundowner.

A "swagman" or "swaggie"—so called from the "swag" or personal luggage wrapped up in a blanket strapped to his back—is a genuine Australian traveler in search of work, but a "sundowner" is the antipodean professional tramp. The sundowner strolls from one squatter's station to another, always taking care to arrive at sunset, for it is the traditional practice of Australian squatters to give food and shelter to all comers for the night.—Kansas City Independent.

DODGED THE BULLETS.

Incident of the Italian Revolution of 1848 In Brescia.

The Count de Hubner tells in his memoirs a thrilling story of an adventure in the Italian city of Brescia during the days of the revolution of 1848. When the trouble began in the streets he contrived to get into a house, taking with him two or three other persons, including the wife of a minor official who had intrusted the lady for awhile to the count's care, but who was to have certain news of her as soon as possible.

The firing grew heavier, and the rebels soon had possession of almost every house in the street.

On the 19th of March Count de Hubner decided that he must do something toward bettering his position in case of an assault, and he forced his only remaining servant to make a dash across the street to the palace where the Austrian general, Rath, was quartered, two blocks away and on the other side. The man was merely to let the general know that De Hubner himself was coming and to ask that the gates be held ready for him.

"Myself, prudence and my honor had a long and heated argument," says Count de Hubner. "Finally I pulled myself together. I had to let Prince Metternich know about myself, to make a last report and to keep my word about poor Mme. M. I undid the door, drew a long breath and plunged down the street.

"The bullets flew all around me, spattering in leaden showers from the stone pavement. As I arrived at the gates of the palace they swung inward, and in a second I was inside, unscathed. But only half my journey was done. I had still to go back again.

"A letter—my last report—was soon completed for Metternich and my message to the husband of Mme. M. was given. I had to return.

"Again the gates were opened and I bounded forth. A veritable fusillade followed. From every window and housetop came the spurts of white smoke, and I tried to dodge forty bullets at once. In a minute I had reached my own door, and as I did so I turned to look back.

"Another man left the palace gates at full speed, but before he had half crossed the street a puff of smoke shot out of a window and he fell flat and was instantly lying like a log across the gutter. The fire stopped at once—what use would even an Italian see in shooting a dead man?

"But on the second that all became quiet to my great astonishment I saw this 'dead man' rise to his legs like a cat and dash across the street into the half open door waiting for him. The sharpshooters were taken by surprise and he escaped."

FEAR IN BATTLE.

Frederick the Great Ran Away, and Grant Was Afraid.

Some of the greatest soldiers whose names adorn history's pages entered their first battles with a feeling of fear in their hearts.

Frederick the Great simply lost his head at the battle of Molwitz. Had he not been a king it is safe to say that he would have been shot at the next sunrise. In the heat of the carnage he got an idea that the army under his command was being overwhelmed, so he put the spurs to his horse and dashed headlong among his soldiers. He rode many miles before he stopped in his wild flight. Late at night he was discovered hiding in an old mill, awaiting, as he thought, capture by the enemy. Then he discovered that the army he deserted had won the battle.

As Frederick was a prince, everybody tried to forget the incident just as quickly as possible. And after that when the king went to war he was just as brave as any other soldier.

General Grant in his memoirs tells us that, despite the fact that he was not new to the ways of war, he had a strange fear in his heart when as commander of the Union forces he found himself on the eve of his first battle of the civil war. He adds, however, that he came to find that "the other fellow" had a similar feeling.

In American history there is no more reckless warrior than the dashing Light Horse Harry Lee. It seems strange, therefore, to find that at the outset of the Continental struggle Washington had to reprove him for his "prudence" in battle. Lee, though, up and told Washington that he was just as brave as the general in chief, and he made good his word.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

SUIT IN EARTHQUAKE.

Decision Rendered in the U. S. Court At San Francisco.

San Francisco, Nov. 15—A verdict against a fire insurance company affecting nearly all the suits in which earthquake clauses in policies have constituted the main defense, was rendered in the United States court Wednesday.

Judge Van Fleet ordered the jury to return the verdict in favor of the plaintiff.

The case was that of Leon Wilkerd & Co. against the Williamsburg Fire Insurance company.

The amount awarded was $2,500, the full amount sued for, with interest at 7 per cent from the date o the earthquake, April 18, 1906. The ruling of the court followed closely in line that of Judge Whitson in the Borgen case some time ago.

Atlanta Next Meeting Place.

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 15—The most important features at the sessions of the Georgia division of the United Confederate Veterans were the election of a division commander for the Georgia division to succeed General A. J. West, the selection of the next place of meeting and the great street parade. General John W. Clark, of Augusta, was selected division commander to succeed General West. He had no opposition, and his election caused great enthusiasm. Atlanta was selected as the meeting place next year by the Georgia division, the invitation of that city being unanimously and enthusiastically accepted.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

We were under the impression that the "ignorant negro vote" was already disfranchised in Florida under the Australian ballot system.

A man is blessed beyond compare whose home the child's voice makes glad. All of life's nobler interests spring up when the baby comes. Its little fingers and tiny hands touch many a hidden spring. They compel a man to gird yourself for harder toil that they may be fed by it. The baby's little hand strikes from your heart the sweet of the day's labor. A man is blessed if a tiny form kneels about his knees when the day's work is done. Once to enjoy it. Then to lose, is to pass from heaven to hell. Pity the man whose baby cannot nestle close on his breast when the shadows fall!

A SENSIBLE CONCLUSION.

The Florida Times-Union of the 14th inst. contains the following interesting and timely suggestion under the caption, "Exit the Forest—Enter the Farm:"

"It is with the forest as with the buffalo—they must go that man may come. Dismal pictures constantly eminate from Washington of a future wherein the place of the forest will be vacant, and we are told that deserts will confront us in their stead, but who believes all he hears? Until the land is needed for farms or demanded in some other shape by our population it is well to reserve forest areas in moderation, but it will be found that excess is always dangerous, and the need for spending millions in tree planting does not yet appear. Pinchot's fad is all right, but a fad that runs away with a President doesn't look so well. Man adapts himself to the needs of civilization. As lumber grows scarce and high we find something better to serve our purposes.

"Edison is to build us a better and safer house at half the cost of wooden dwellings. Throughout this country there are many plants now a mere burden on the surface of the earth from which to make paper. Our State would be the richer for the absence of the saw palmetto, and yet that can furnish paper for many years with by-products that should pay the expenses of collecting the plant at least. At present the greatest obstacle is the absence of machinery to pull it out of the ground or cut it off by wholesale as wheat is reaped.

"If we must keep the forests because we want fuel, we answer that the farmer can grow potatoes for alcohol and alcohol makes excellent fuel. The treeless plains of the West want a fuel easily transported, and here alcohol is better than coal, if it be cheap enough. Remember that it was the tax that made it expensive, and the tax alone. Alcohol for fuel should be almost as cheap as water.

"Let the farmer's crops furnish paper, fuel and fibers; then the demand will create more farms and another period of development ensue."

PRIVATE ALLEN IN RETIREMENT.

"So far as I know, the happiest man in this world is 'Private' John Allen, of Tupelo," said Judge J. H. Neville, of Gulfport, Miss., according to The Washington Post. "He is living on a farm near the town, which is indissolubly linked with his name and taking life easy. John is well supplied with this world's goods, and while he practices law he seldom takes a case in which the fee is less than $2,000 or $3,000, and not even then unless he is sure of getting the fee in a day or two. 'Jim Neville,' said he the other day, 'I am in love with the whole world. I have even forgiven all the fools in Mississippi who thought that anyone would make a better Senator than I.'

"John's wife is rather strict, and on a certain Saturday John invited me to spend Sunday with him, but said I must obey all rules of his house on Sunday. 'Let's hear the rules,' said I. 'Well,' he replied, 'you must not chew, smoke or drink liquor, and you must go to Sunday school once and church twice.' So I told John I didn't think I'd come, and I asked him if he observed the rules himself. He said he thought his wife believed he did."

It is not generally known that the wife of Senator LaFollette took her university degree in the same class with her husband, says The November Delineator. As Miss Belle Case she vanquished "Bob" LaFollette in a joint oratorical contest at the University of Wisconsin. She then permitted herself to be won by the doughty young student, and in turn pointed the way to the Governorship of his native State, and, later, to the United States Senate. Before her marriage this Badger State girl had just been admitted to the practice of law, and the marital partnership was followed by a business one, for a shingle reading: "LaFollette & LaFollette" announced to the good people of Madison that the newly-married couple had opened an attractive office and were ready for any legal clients who might call.

The real poignancy of the "good-bye" is to be measured by the distant days so clearly seen. If it means only the lapse of a few short weeks at best the going is scarcely felt. But if it means the tearing from your arms for long weeks and months the form you love—God! who can measure the power of that heartache.

Judging from the reports of progress in Palatka, and the contemplated improvements in the nature of buildings, street paving, etc., as recorded in The Palatka Times-Herald, it would seem that the prohibition victory in Old Putnam, especially in the city by the St. Johns, will not prove such a disaster as the anti-temperance people tried to picture it to be prior to the election. Old Putnam and her chief city will yet show those who cried destruction to commercial and manufacturing interests a thing or two.

Our old friend, J. W. Keys, who was for a long time employed as a typo on The Sun, has been making further discoveries, declaring now that he can produce the proof that oil exists in Gadsden county. He evidently has the "Keys" to the situation. Mr. Keys was always an explorer and prospector, and is by no means slow in the work. Having made a special study of minerals, etc., through actual observation and experience, his statement may be correct. At any rate, it is worth investigating.

With President Andrew Sledd addressing the National Convention of State College Presidents in Washington, and Dr. C. L. Crow delivering lectures on education in South Florida, it would seem that the University of Florida is among the first of the educational institutions of the country. As an aggregation, no finer or more competent faculty could be secured anywhere than that which graces the chairs of Florida's State University.

There are no ads. in the paper today that are "just as well overlooked." It has been a long time since we have printed any of that kind.

APPETITE OUR BEST GUIDE.

It Will Not Lead Us Astray In the Matter of Overeating.

It is the systematic practice of civilized people to thwart, pervert, defy and then abuse their appetites—with lamentable consequences. Let me briefly describe what this admirable guide of ours will do for us if it be given a chance.

The appetite of the properly brought up child is simply invaluable. A child needs a great deal of sugar, and if its appetite for this substance be regarded as reasonable and not a symptom of original sin the child will take just so much sugar as it needs, neither more nor less, and will not gorge itself with sweets when it gets a chance.

I am not talking at random, for I observe daily in a small child of my own, and it is the experience of all parents endowed with sufficient sense. The food which the child dislikes, such as fat, is the food which the child's stomach has the most difficulty in digesting.

In adult life, if the appetite be not cheated by the cook, it is our constant mentor and guide and friend. When we are taking much exercise it is abundant. When we take little exercise it diminishes, as it should.

As old age comes on much less food is required and appetite correspondingly diminishes. In short, at every period of life and in all circumstances a properly respected appetite will guide us in the fashion for which appetite was designed.

But we are much too clever to be run by our instincts, are we not? We deprive the child of the sugar which it craves and then find it a little nuisance and a pig because it makes itself ill with sweets. It is we who should be scolded and should squirm.

When our own appetites fail we never dream of asking ourselves whether this is a morbid failure due to illness or is a normal diminution telling us that we do not need food at present of that we are not in a fit state at the moment to digest it.

When warm weather comes most of us use every device of cookery in order to produce an artificial appetite, which we will then satisfy. Thereafter we will complain of the heat. But since we have just piled unnecessary fuel on the furnace, can we wonder that we find hot weather oppressive?

Then, as the years go on and we obtain more leisure and free cash, perhaps we are liable to devote ourselves more and more to the pleasures of the table, seeking ever new devices to promote that hunger which is the best sauce—the sauce which all other sauces are designed to produce. All doctors know the results.

If we turn to the lower animals and observe how wisely and well their unvitiated appetites guide them we begin to see the point of the saying that "ignorance is bliss."—C. W. Saleeby, M D., F. R. S. Edin., in London Mirror.

Art Roosts High.

A number of women founded a club for the purpose of dabbling in literature and artistic pursuits. The two having the most leisure were delegated by the other members to look for clubrooms. A week later they reported that they had made a selection.

"Where are the rooms?" asked the rest of the women.

"On the third floor of this building," said the house hunters, and they spread out on the table a number of exterior and interior views of the building they had chosen. But their club associates refused even to look at the pictures.

"If the rooms are on the third floor it isn't worth while to consider them even for a minute," they said. "It is an unwritten law that all clubrooms dedicated to aesthetic and artistic pursuits must have an aerial location. Nothing below the eighth floor can be thought of. It is all right for political clubs and other organizations devoted to material interests to house themselves in first, second and third floors, but the higher the aims of any society the higher the altitude demanded for its clubrooms."

The house hunters looked sorely puzzled.

"Why?" they asked.

But not even the most enlightened woman present could tell why.

"We only know that it is so," they said. "Look up the location of all really soulful societies, and you'll find that the law is faithfully observed."—New York Press.

WIVES IN KOREA.

A Humorist Who Draws a Moral From Their Silence.

It is said that in Korea after a native woman is wedded she becomes practically speechless, says Newton Newkirk in the Boston Post. This is in conformity to custom and caste. A Korean wife does not after marriage become absolutely mute, but she does not speak unless necessity demands it. And, by the way, if none of us talked any more than necessity demanded this world would be full of large chunks of silence. The Korean wife does not chatter like a parrakeet. Hot air is something in which she does not deal. Of course if the house got on fire she would mention it, or if she were to step on a snake she wouldn't try to keep the fact a secret, but she does not talk over the back fence when she is bringing in the wash or converse with her neighbor when she is washing the windows. If she did, she would lose her caste and her social rating would slump faster than a copper stock.

Probably many a brutal husband who reads these lines will sigh and say, "Ah, that my wife were a Korean!" There has an impression got abroad in this land of the free and the home of the grafter that our women are endless and tiresome talkers. In the eyes of the masses the American wife holds the long distance record as a continuous conversationalist. And upon this impression jests and jokelets are freely built. The eternally talking wife is a prolific source of inspiration for comic weeklies and the vaudeville stage. Two comedians come down front and, with their noses touching each other, engage in a rapid fire conversation:

"I got a talking machine down to my house!"

"Oh, you got a talking machine down to your house! How much did you pay for it?"

"I didn't pay nothing for it—I married it!" (Shrieks of laughter from the large and select audience.)

But if the wife is voluble of speech, is her husband a sphinx? If a woman is a human phonograph, is a man a clam? Not exactly—not so that you could notice it from the road through the binoculars. Most of the husbands who like to joke about the wagging tongues of their wives are living expounders of the hot air theory. They are the chaps who have nothing to say and devote most of their time to saying it; they are full of persiflage, verbosity and prunes. When they open their mouths their tongues run away with them. Stand one of these tiresome expounders of the obvious up beside a talking machine and he will make it sound like a whisper. Man, as he averages up, is full of bluff, brag and bluster, and that's worse than you can say of the average woman.

CENSUS HUMORS.

Returns of Occupations That Are Difficult to Classify.

According to an official of the census bureau at Washington, that organization is often puzzled to know how to classify the returns of occupation in cases where the enumerators have given a too literal description of a person's employment. There are two census terms to cover such cases. Occupations not included in the regular list may be entered as "O. T.," meaning "other things," or "N. G.," which stands for "not gainful." To choose between the two sometimes suggests amusing complications.

An enumerator in Iowa reported "drunkard" as the occupation of one of his men. The census bureau entered him as "N. G.," since the next enumerator asserted this to be his occupation for twelve months in the year.

A New York enumerator who seemed to evince the inclinations of a detective reported several men in his district as "crooks," "pickpockets" and "gamblers." They were entered as "N. G.," although their occupations may have been more gainful to them than to their victims.

An Alabama man whose occupation was reported as "odd jobs" goes on the records under "O. T."—"other things."

While some of the occupations which the enumerators give are unusual, they are probably correct. A tramp was described as "loafer, not gainful, unemployed twelve months." An extra thrifty person in one instance was reported as "occupation, miser," and another "lives on savings." A New England woman whose husband was described as an "idler" gave her own occupation as "washing and wishing."—Minneapolis Journal.

CHICKEN HEARTED MEN.

Every One of Group Dreaded to Hear of Some Injury.

"I could hear the bone in his wrist snap," said a man who was describing an accident to a group of men.

"Oh, cut it out, for heaven's sake!" called out one of the group. He was a big fellow, but he was as white as a sheet.

The speaker laughed jeeringly. "I didn't know you were so chicken hearted," he said.

The big man began to explain. "I'm not what you would call a timid sort of person, but the mention of any injury to the wrist always turns me faint. I can stand seeing blood flow or hear thrilling tales of broken limbs and smashed heads, but I can't stand any wrist stories. I don't know the reason. It seems to be merely a matter of temperament."

A quiet little man came to the rescue. "I know just what you mean," he said. "You're not the only one who has a peculiar aversion to a certain sort of injury. Now, my particular aversion is on account of trouble with the eyes. Immediately I begin to blink and wink and my eyes smart until I can't stand it. I'd rather hear an account of a brutal murder than any description of an eye disease."

The man who had jeered at the big man had been thinking. "I have one of those aversions, too, now I come to think of it," he said. "It is accounts of paralytic shocks, to which I particularly object. I feel myself growing numb all over when I hear such tales, and I always make an excuse to get away as soon as possible."

His remark was a signal for a universal confession. One acknowledged that the sight of blood gave him a sensation of extreme nausea; another said that reading or hearing of a fracture of the skull gave him "a gone feeling at his stomach," and another said he shivered so his teeth chattered every time he heard an account of an operation for appendicitis.

The big man was triumphant. "Well, I'm not such a big baby after all," he said.—New York Tribune.

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Mr. Robert O. Burke, Elnora, N. Y., writes: "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up from twelve to twenty times a night, and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living, when a friend recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50-cent bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease. J. W. McCollum & Co.

Danger.

"She was even more afraid of cows than most girls, so when she spied a placid animal recumbent under a tree, peacefully chewing its cud, she at first refused to go through the pasture at all. Her husband calmed her fears to some extent, and they started by, when the cow slowly commenced to get up, hind legs first, as they always do. At this the little lady shrieked with terror and said:

"Oh, Bob, hurry, hurry. He is getting ready to spring at us."—Exchange.

"Certainly."

"I said were you sure it wasn't just your idea," replied Peter. "I'm certain I heard Bobby's mother tell you over the telephone that the party was very informal."—Youth's Companion.
